The robber not only looks similar based on surveillance photos, but the method of operation and get-away vehicle were also similar. In each case, the robber approached the counter, pulled out a handgun, pointed it at the teller and demanded money. The robber then took an undisclosed amount of cash and stuffed it into a bag. In the first two cases, the robber was seen getting into a white mini-van. In the last and most recent case, a white mini-van was seen near the bank in Rolla.
